RESPONSIBILITY WITH EMPLOYER

Cannot Give Employment to Children Under 16

An opinion just made public by Percy F. Power, labor commissioner for the state, in response to a query as to whether children under sixteen years of age, who have graduated from the grammar school may be granted permits to work, throws new light on the situation. It brings forth the point that the law does not restrain the children, or their parents or guardians, but states that employers cannot place children who are under sixteen to work, without a special permit from the superintendent of schools. The responsibility therefore is placed wholly with the employer. In view of the fact that many local people are of the opinion that children who have graduated from the grammar grades, but who are less than sixteen, may commence work without the formality of a permit, Mr. Power's opinion explaining the situation is given:

"Your question with reference to providing children with working permits after they have passed the eighth grade in cases where they are under sixteen years of age brings out the fact which you may not have before noted, that the primary purpose of the labor law does not relate to the schools so much as to employers of labor. The only persons who can violate the labor laws are employers of labor, as the law does not recognize the child or its parents as possible violators. Employers are not permitted to give employment to children under sixteen years of age without having filed in their office a permit issued by the superintendent of schools. That is why it is necessary for children to have permits, even though they have passed the eighth grade and cannot be compelled to attend school.

"An employer would be violating the law if he accepted the services of a child under sixteen years of age without having a working permit, even though the child has passed the ninth or tenth grades. It is the age of the child rather than his school acquirements that determines his eligibility for employment. But until he is sixteen years of age the superintendent of schools has charge of the matter of issuing permits in order that the permits may not be issued to children under sixteen who have not the minimum school acquirements provided in the law."

Under the Michigan truancy law, children who pass the eighth grade are not required to attend school, but under the labor law they are not permitted to work until they are sixteen years, unless permits are received from the superintendents of schools in the cities or from the county commissioner of schools in the townships. As a rule, children finish the eighth grade when they are from twelve to thirteen years of age.

WILL DENOUNCE FAKE REMEDIES

Churches to Take Stand Against "Tuberculosis Cures"

From thousands of pulpits in all parts of the United States, fake cures for consumption will be exposed and denounced on Tuberculosis Day, Oct. 27th. This is part of the program for the movement announced today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Literature giving information on fraudulent and alleged "cures" for consumption will be sent to clergymen all over the country, and an organized crusade against the traffic in these drugs and devices will be instituted. The literature will be sent to ministers either directly from the National Association office in New York or through the many state and local anti-tuberculosis associations scattered throughout the country. It is estimated that over 100,000 clergymen will be reached in this way.

From actual records on file in the office of The National Association, it is estimated that the volume of business done annually by the various concerns who sell fake remedies for tuberculosis amounts to well over $15,000,000. The number of these remedies now being used as so-called "cures" is over 500.

Three classes of "cures" are distinguished by the National Association. In the first class are included hundreds of devices and drugs which can be bought for any sum ranging from ten cents to five dollars at a drug store. The second class of "cures" includes the "institutes," "professors," or companies of "doctors," who for a consideration guarantee to cure consumption by some secret method of which they are the sole proprietors. There are nearly one hundred-fifty of these institute frauds in the United States, cheating the people out of millions of dollars annually.

In the third class of "cures" are placed a number of home-made remedies, which either through ignorance or superstition have been advanced as treatments for tuberculosis. Some of these are onions, lemons, rattlesnake poison, coal dust, lime dust, pigs' blood, dog oil, milk "strippings," and even alcohol.

None of these remedies will cure consumption, declares the National association. No drug, gas or other material has yet been discovered, which, when eaten, inhaled or injected into the system, will kill the germs of tuberculosis without doing serious injury to the body. The only real cure for tuberculosis recognized by the National Association consists of the combination of fresh air, good food, and rest taken under the direction of a competent physician.

ROWE IN ESCANABA.

Finds Stores and Business Places Obeying State Law.

Deputy Dairy and Food Commissioner John T. Rowe of Laurium is in Escanaba on business. Concerning his visit, the Mirror of that city says:

"Escanaba stores are obeying the state laws as regards pure foods. This is the declaration made by John T. Rowe, inspector for this district. He spent yesterday in the city calling up on local houses.

"The inspection of Escanaba houses is a regular affair. State laws now make it obligatory for all buildings to be of a certain sanitary standard. That this city could pass without a single complaint is complimentary."

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

Dr. P. H. Paradise of New York gave a very interesting address at the First National bank hall of Laurium last evening, in the interests of the Democratic campaign. The address was given in the French tongue. There were other brief addresses by local speakers and the national as well as the local issues and candidates were discussed.

LAURIUM BREVITIES

The congregation and members of the Laurium M. E. church will tender a reception in honor of Rev. M. H. Elford and family in the church parlors this evening.

There will be a meeting in the Y. M. C. C. rooms tomorrow, at which steps will be taken to form a six or eight-team bowling league, composed of teams affiliated with the club.

The hearing of Edward Dunn of Red Jacket, charged with violating the liquor law by failing to remove the sheens at his saloon on Sunday, is set for Wednesday in the court of Justice David Armit.

CHANCE CONFIRMS DEAL.

Denies Intentions to Sever Connections With Chicago Club.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5.—Frank L. Chance, manager of the Chicago National league baseball club Thursday announced he had sold his stock in the Cubs to Harry Ackerman of Pittsburgh. Chance refused to say what he got for his holdings, but declared that he lost no money on the deal. His holdings of the Chicago stock amounted to about 10 per cent of the total and Chance has said that he considered the securities worth $30,000. Chance denied that he intended to sever his connection with the Cubs.

"I expect to stay right here and manage the team," he said. "I'm still manager of the Cubs and fully expect to remain so next season."

"Have you good grounds for expecting to continue as manager of the team," he was asked.

"Perfectly good grounds," was the reply. "I am serious. I fully expect to continue to manage the Cubs and I have satisfactory reasons for believing that I am to be retained in that position."

Chance said, however, that if he did not manage the Cubs he would manage some other ball club and added that he had had no meeting with Charles Webb Murphy and did not expect to have any at any time definitely in view.

EVERS FINES ZIMMERMAN.

Chicago Cub's Temporary Boss Asserts Authority.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Heine Zimmerman has the distinction of being the first man fined by Acting Manager Joe Tinker of the Cubs. A $50 "fine" was hung on Zimmer after an argument with the acting boss in Wednesday's game between the Pirates and the west sisters.

At the beginning of the fifth inning Heine "called" Jerry Downs and Vic Saler, offering them free lessons on "Baseball and How to Play It." At least, such is Joe's allegation. Tinker told him to "lay off" these young men, saying he would give all the necessary instructions.

"Don't tell me what to do and what not to do," said Heine. "You won't be manager tomorrow."

"Well," replied Joe, "I'm manager today and what I say goes."

"What do you say?" queried Mr. Zimmerman.

"I say," quoth Mr. Tinker, "that you're fined $50 for talking back."

"That fine will never go," said Zimmer. "Not only will the fine go," continued Tinker, "but you'll go with it. You can depart for the clubhouse right now."

YOST PICKS RED SOX.

Michigan Football Mentor an Ardent Ball Fan.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 5.—Coach Yost picks the Red Sox to win the world's series from the Giants. He says that he is basing his opinion on what he is told by men who have followed the teams closely, on what he has read and on the few games he has seen.

Yost has seen the Red Sox only once this year. They played the White Sox at Chicago at that time. Ray Collins did the pitching.

The Hurry-up coach is an enthusiastic fan. Before eating his dinner last night he hid himself to a scoreboard and perused the scores and batteries.

Speaking of Marty O'Toole he ventured that instead of a lemon, O'Toole was worth $50,000 now.

O'Toole has held Boston to no runs and five hits, St. Louis to no runs and three hits and Chicago to no runs and two hits in his last three performances on the mound.

SWEDEN IS TO SEND EXHIBITS

Government to Help Defray Cost For Pan-American Show

Stockholm, Oct. 5.—It is expected that the Swedish government will grant a considerable subsidy to the Swedish participants in the Panama Pacific Exposition.

John Hammar, managing director of the Swedish Exportation society, has left for San Francisco to prepare for the participation of Sweden. A number of industries are deeply interested in the exposition and these are already planning their exhibits. Among these are the wood pulp interests, the telephone companies, the Swedish match industry and the makers of creamery machinery.

A unique contribution toward the erection of a Swedish building at the Panama Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco is to be made by Miss Ida Olson, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Swedish-American society of California.

It is a golden cushion, which, when finished, will have on its surface the embroidered autographs of distinguished Swedish and American officials. The cover already contains the names of King Gustav, written by his own hand, several of the cabinet officers of Sweden, and those of the American ambassadors, ministers and consuls to most of the European countries.

On reaching America, Miss Olson will endeavor to procure President Taft's autograph and she will then complete the cushion with the signatures of the Swedish minister at Washington and the various Swedish consuls throughout the country.

When the cover is complete it is to be raffled in San Francisco and the proceeds will go towards the Swedish building which Swedish-Americans are planning to build at the exposition.

Test of Military Strength.

Sweden's test of the strength of her national defenses by mobilizing nine regiments of her troops along the Russian frontier has been very successful. Although much of the country is without railway communication the regiments were mobilized ready for marching at the end of two days, despite the enormous distance.

The citizen soldiers are ordered to serve under an act of the last Riksdag and kept under colors for ten days for training before beginning the march for home.

On the whole the manoeuvres have shown that the Swedish organization is working very well. The mobilized troops came from an area far larger than many European kingdoms, but the telephone, which is well developed in Sweden, was a great aid to the authorities and by its use it was possible to spread the order to every village and farm in the district within a few hours.

PLAYERS NOW JOURNALISTS.

Five of Giants to Give Own Stories of Day's Play.

The art of combining baseball plays with journalism promises to be more highly developed in the forthcoming world series than ever before. Practically all of the star players have been engaged by newspapers to give the public inside information as to just how the games were won or lost.

Terreau, Mathewson, Marquard, Messers, Herzog and Doyle are conspicuous among those who will turn newspaper reporters after they have finished their day's work on the diamond.

In addition more than a score of well known baseball players will all with the newspaper workers as critics of the game.

CORBETT IS IMPROVING.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 5.—James J. Corbett, who was operated on in a hospital here several days ago for appendicitis, continues to show improvement.

LOSE MONEY ON OLYMPIC GAMES

Receipts at Stadium, $243,000 Short of Expenditures

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 5.—The Olympic games were a great financial failure, not less than $242,000 having been lost by the organizers, according to the final auditing of the accounts.

From the standpoint of good sport the games were acknowledged to have been well conducted. Good order and system were characteristic of the program from day to day. But this good management meant heavy cost and the promoters of the affair find themselves facing this great deficit. This amount does not include the cost of the stadium.

The whole income from the stadium including season tickets, was slightly more than $270,000. On the day of the marathon $22,788 was taken in at the gates and adding to this the season tickets for that day the income was $34,128, which is the largest sum ever taken in Sweden for a public affair.

Sweden is not disheartened by the deficit, as it was expected from the start and the country feels well repaid in having shown the world the high degree of her sportsmanship and management. She was successful in both of these endeavors and it is considered certain that the Swedish government recognizing these facts, will not hesitate to place at the disposal of the committee the funds necessary to pay all of its debts.

WORLD'S TITLE NOT DECIDED IN GARDENS.

Sneaker Hooper and Lewis, the greatest outfielders in either league, will give the Red Sox the edge over the Giants in the world's series, say the critics. Speaker, Hooper and Lewis are a great outfield and one of them is a great hitter, but no outfield ever won the big series.

If the secondary defenses could win such an affair, the Tigers would long since have been hailed as world's champions, and no one ever noticed any flags of that description floating around that city. The Detroit outfield that faced the Cubs in 1908 has nothing to lose by comparison with that of St. Louis, and yet the Tigers took just one game from Chicago.

Cobb, Crawford and McIntyre as an outfield trio were second to none. In addition, all three of them figured among the ten leading hitters of the year, while only Speaker of the Red Sox was well up in the batting averages of 1912. Cobb batted .324, Crawford .311 and McIntyre .295. And nobody found any flaws in their fielding.

RECORD CROWDS FOR THE SERIES

Receipts Are Expected to Exceed All Previous Records

New York, Oct. 5.—It is estimated that the receipts from the opening game in the world's series here will exceed $80,000. The high water mark last year was $77,000 but it was charged that many seats which fell into the hands of speculators remained unsold. Under the new arrangements it is figured that all of the 25,000 seats will be taken and there will be standing room for a few thousand more in the broad promenade in the rear of the grandstand. The commission will see to it that the rules and regulations of the fire department are strictly obeyed, so that the aisles and exits will be kept clear.

Workmen were at work today strengthening the open stand which is of wood, with the idea of guaranteeing safety to the record crowd that will see the opening game from that point. Secretary Hugler of the National League was entirely pleased with the arrangements for the sale of tickets. His figures of the reserved seats already allotted show that the national commission has reserved seventy-five seats; the Metropolitan newspapers 1,000 seats; the New York National league club stockholders, players and officials, 1,500 seats; players and others connected with other baseball clubs, 2,150 seats.

The remaining reserved seats, about 4,000 for each game, will be placed on open sale next Monday, but not more than two tickets being allowed to a single person. The 30,000 unreserved seats, 12,000 at $1 each and 18,000 at $2 each, will not go on sale until the morning of the game.

The temporary seating arrangements have been completed and the field has been put in the best possible shape. The diamond has been regraded, every pebble has been hand picked and heavy rollers have been hauled back and forth over the infield and base lines until the surface is as smooth as a table.

The big canvas covers have been thrown over the infield, not to be removed until Monday forenoon, when the Red Sox go to the grounds for a workout before starting for New York in the afternoon.

The groundkeeper will get his men to work again as soon as the team leaves and have the field in perfect condition for the second game in the series, which, barring interference by weather, will be played here next Wednesday.

NO NATIVE OF BOSTON.

Not Single Red Sox Calls the Beem City His Home.

Boston, Oct. 5.—No member of the team which will strive next week to capture the world's championship for Boston calls this city his home, only three of the players, in fact, live in Massachusetts. The homes of the others are scattered through a dozen states, three coming from distant California.

Garland (Jack) Stahl, the playing manager, is the oldest member of the team, but he is only 21. Heine Wagner, captain and short stop, has been the longest in baseball, rounding out 11 years this season.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—"Take it from me that the Detchman is as good as over," is today's contribution from Tom Jones, manager of Ad. Wolgast, here completing arrangements for the Wolgast-Mandot battle of Nov. 2 at New Orleans.

"He will lick Mandot and do it in 12 or 20 rounds, which ever is decided on. But I would rather have it go 20. I would not have made the match had I not believed Wolgast would cop."

McGRAW TOOK THE CHANCE.

Terreau Saved the Day For Giants Late in the Season.

Pitchers are not made by spending their time on the bench. It may look like Terreau practice to work an inexperienced twirler during a campaign and yet only by working him can he be developed. Had McGraw not taken a chance with Terreau and worked him regularly, even when he was not delivering the goods, the Giants would now be out of the pennant race. It was the development of Terreau that saved the Giants.

The average fan has no patience with a green pitcher. The moment he begins to go poorly the old shout of "Take him out!" is raised, and yet pitchers are not developed unless they are allowed to remain on the slab and take their medicine.
